BOND ISSUE FOR GRADE SCHOOLS NOW PROPOSED

Mass Meeting to Be Held
November 16 to Discuss
Calling Election

A mass meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock, Thursday, November 16 in the assembly

The grammar school board of education last night in a special meeting unanimously endorsed this action.

Notices calling this mass meeting are being posted in conformity with state law at the entrances to the Central Avenue school, the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school and the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school.

school board may obtain first-hand information in regard to the crowded conditions of the school system, they agreed upon an official tour of inspection to every classroom in the city under their control on the mornings of Thursday and Friday next week.

Board In Favor
According to Superintendent Richardson D. White, the board is in favor of a bond election, but has not yet decided upon any specific amount.

"After this inspection," he asserted this morning, "they probably will make some definite proposition."

As to the size of a bond issue which will be required to meet

"I don't see how we can get by without a large one. Almost every school in the city is crowded to the doors in spite of the additional rooms opened this year. I don't anticipate that there will be much difficulty in showing the [redacted] at [redacted]."

"If they knew the conditions of the schools they would know that it is very necessary to begin building at once. I feel very confident in the success of a school bond election based upon the action of a mass meeting."

Pressed for Time

The brevity of time left in which to complete new buildings for next September's classes was emphasized by Mr. White. He stated that the bond election could not be held less than three weeks after the mass meeting and that a lapse of three or four months would be necessary before the bonds could be sold and any money would be available.

The bonding capacity of the city school system at the present time is $450,000. If this entire sum is voted Mr. White does not believe that it will materially increase the rate of school taxation. The likelihood of a bond election this year is not being seriously regarded seriously by Mr. White. From interviews which he has had recently with representative businessmen he is convinced that the parents of Glendale will see to it that the children of the community are provided with proper school facilities. He does not believe that the defeat of the high school bonds affects the situation.

William R. Moody Kiwanis Club Guest

William R. Moody, son of the famous evangelist Dwight L. Moody, was the guest of honor at noon today in the Broadway Inn at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club.

The program was in charge of Dr. Jack Anderson of 102 West California avenue, who is from the Mt. Hermon Preparatory school at Northfield, Mass., of which Mr. Moody is president.

Mr. Moody is one of the foremost educators of New England. He is actively engaged in the management of a school for boys and another for girls which meet with tremendous favor from Theodore

Mr. Moody has traveled extensively abroad and was with his father on many of his evangelistic campaigns.

Patterson Avenue Proceedings Halted

Proceedings for the opening of Patterson avenue last night were abandoned by the city council. This action was not taken because of protests, but because of the belief expressed by several members of the council that the cost of cutting Patterson avenue through from Brand boulevard to Central avenue was excessive and that a cheaper means could be found of providing a through

Tentative plans on a new base are now being prepared by the city engineering department.

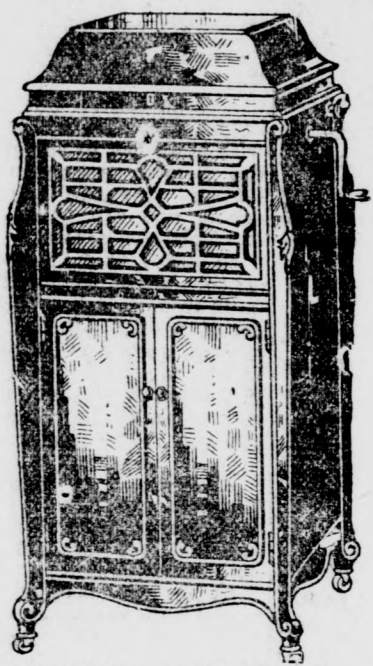

According to City Manager V. H. Reeves, some other street besides Patterson avenue may be chosen for the thoroughfare.

EAGLE ROCK HAS NEW ELECTRICAL SIGN IN PLACE

Located on Hill at Head of Eddy Avenue; Cost City About $800

The huge electric sign that spells "Eagle Rock" in mammoth letters ten feet high was set together and put in its proper position almost at the top of the steep hillside at the head of Eddy avenue just before noon yesterday.

It sets to rest any misgivings that might have been felt as to whether or not the best location had been chosen. Some had said that no one would ever be able to read it at that distance, and that it would be money thrown away if the sign were placed so far up the hillside.

The letters are ten feet high and seven feet six inches wide. All the letters in the word "Eagle Rock" together with the space between each letter, makes the sign 130 feet long.

The letters are made of galvanized iron painted white with a red border, and each letter contains forty large electric light bulbs, making a total of 360 lights on the whole sign.

It is claimed that the distance from a position on Colorado boulevard opposite the sign to its location on the hillside is a distance of approximately 1800 feet.

During the daytime the sign can be plainly read from a distance of several miles, and when the lights are turned on at night, the distance that it will be visible will be considerably increased.

Cost is $800. The sign is the property of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce and approximately $800 was raised by popular subscription to pay for it. It is said to be one of the biggest electric signs of its kind in Southern California.

Godfrey and Edwards, on whose property the sign is located, donated the necessary grant for its location on their land.

The Chamber of Commerce has entered into a contract with the Edison company for the necessary electric current, and it is understood that it is to cost a flat rate of $30 per month to supply it with electrical current from sunset to sunrise.

It is necessary, however, for the Edison company to secure the necessary easement for the right of way for their lines across and up the hillside, and it will possibly be three weeks before this can be completed, so, for the present at least, the sign will remain dark at night.

Thirty-Seven Cases In Eagle Rock Court

There are thirty-seven cases of alleged traffic violation scheduled to be tried before Judge Harold Ide Cruzan in Eagle Rock police court tomorrow.

Out of the entire number on the docket, the case of most local interest is that of Milton H. Berry, Jr., Eagle Rock real estate man who was arrested last week by Motorcycle Officer Harry Williams, who booked Berry for an alleged speed of thirty miles an hour on Colorado boulevard.

Another case of interest is that of E. M. Ball who is charged with an alleged speed of forty-five miles an hour on Colorado boulevard. It is understood that Ball is a high school boy, and not yet 18 years old.

Of the thirty-seven cases to come up for trial tomorrow, it was found that the average speed of the entire number was twenty-nine and a fraction miles per hour.

Japanese Births In Hawaii Top Totals

HONOLULU — Births among the Japanese in Hawaii were practically as many as all other racial elements in the territory put together during the year ending June 30, according to the annual report of Dr. F. E. Trotter, president of the Board of Health.

Total births in the territory for the period covered were 11,249, and of these 5,590 were of the Japanese race. The Portuguese were next, with a total of 1,154.

The Spanish have the highest birth rate, that of 101.90 per thousand. Coming next are the Asiatic Hawaiians, with a rate of 81.72 and third the Caucasians, with a rate of 66.32. The rate among the Japanese is 48.21 and among American, British, German and Russian, 12.60 per thousand.

Love Greatest Wish of Michigan Students

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Love led all desires of students in a University of Michigan class when they filled out their questionnaire on their hearts' wishes. Perpetual youth, high standing in the course and victory over Ohio state in football took second, third and fourth places, respectively.

All listed friends, success and money among their wants, few placing their pecuniary aims lower than a million. One would be a Henry Ford, another sought an unbeatable poker system, one longed only for the Omar's "a loaf of bread, a jug of wine and thou." None expressed a desire to become president.

Salesmen can tell at a glance the yards of cloth remaining in a bolt from tape measures which have been rolled into it.

Mrs. Ogden L. Mills and Baronet Marry

Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, formerly Miss Margaret Rutherford, and prominent in American society circles, has become the bride of Sir Paul Dukes, noted British author and lecturer. Lady Dukes married Congressman Ogden L. Mills in France in 1911, the wedding being one of the most prominent social affairs of the year. In May, 1920, she secured a divorce from Mr. Mills in Paris.

'BANDWAGON' FOR WOOLWINE HALTS

Musicians' Chariot Goes Too Fast, Claim, and Motor Cop Says 'Stop!'

Harry Williams, Eagle Rock motorcycle cop, added to his list of celebrities that he has arrested when he booked Frank Woerner, who was driving a car containing J. L. Woolwine's drum and five corps yesterday at noon.

The Democratic nominee for governor was scheduled to make a political speech in Eagle Rock at noon, and as two automobiles drew up in front of the Eagle Rock bank—the first containing the musicians, and the second Woolwine—Williams drew up alongside the first car and told the driver he was going thirty-one miles an hour.

Woerner is claimed to have "talked back" to Williams and then to have finally apologized, but Williams gave him the ticket to appear before Judge Cruzan on November 10.

Some claimed he whole thing was prearranged and the driver urged to speed simply so he would be arrested and draw a large crowd to listen to the spellbinding.

Woolwine, however, claimed his voice was bad, and did not talk.

Music May Be Used to Treat Diseases

CINCINNATI, O.—Music has not only "charms to soothe the savage breast," but also can lull to slumber any form of disease or malady curable by medical science, according to the theory advanced by Professor C. M. Diserens, of the Department of Psychology at the University of Cincinnati.

Professor Diserens is making a research into the reactions of various tone combinations upon the human nervous system. He believes that he will be able to tabulate his results and make his theory so practical that "musical prescriptions" will supplant those of a pharmaceutical character within the next five years.

A single white sheet of paper covered with lamplight is the instrument used by Professor Diserens to test the reactions of a listener to Chopin or Irving Berlin. This is mounted on a miniature revolving drum, touched by a stylus formed of a long and very delicate reed or straw. The straw is attached to a mechanism which in turn connects with an electric belt fastened closely about the chest of the listener.

"Obviously music can be applied to help produce quiet; that is to soothe, or to rouse or stimulate the patient," Professor Diserens said. "Music has been used in many hospitals for this purpose, but the values have not been worked out exactly."

"We are experimenting as regards the action of music in relation to electrified conditions of the pulse and heart and also the exact effect upon other mechanisms of the human body; also as to producing involuntary movement."

Booked to Appear On Traffic Charge

Fred Lacey, who gave his address as 1141 LaVita Place, Los Angeles, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Harry Williams, Eagle Rock motorcycle officer.

Lacey is charged with driving his car at an alleged speed of thirty-four miles an hour in the twenty-mile zone on Colorado boulevard in Eagle Rock. Lacey told Williams he was a member of the L. A. county district attorney's staff. Williams asked him if it was official business that caused such haste. He answered in the negative and Williams booked him to appear before Judge Cruzan on November 10.

Some claimed he whole thing was prearranged and the driver urged to speed simply so he would be arrested and draw a large crowd to listen to the spellbinding.

Steals Material to Erect Family Home

LANSING, Mich.—This is the story of the "House that Witt Built."

Over in East Lansing stands a pretty little bungalow pointed out by passersby as a monument to its builder's cleverness. The house was erected by Fred Witt with material stolen, he admitted, from various contracting jobs about the city. Everything that went into its make-up, from cement blocks for the foundation to weights for the windows, was "borrowed" during the night time.

So far all went well. But Witt was not satisfied with an empty house. It must be furnished. He entered a house on West Allegan street and took away several pieces of furniture to make it comfortable, according to the police charges. It would be hard to identify a shingle or a piece of siding, but the rightful owner of the furniture recognized his property.

Witt was haled into court, where he admitted, with a subtle air of pride, his wrong-doing.

He was sentenced to three to fifteen years in Jackson prison.

Conscience Money Shows Up Too Late

OBERLIN, O.—Luther Munson, veteran retired local merchant, announced that an Oberlin woman called on him in an effort to locate a man who was in business here in 1872. The merchant who sold the trunk suspended business in 1873—nearly fifty years ago. He died some years later. Being a bachelor, he left no heirs to whom the $5 and interest could be paid. HOUSEWARMING MUSICAL

Wednesday evening, Mrs. Virginia Freeman entertained a number of her pupils and friends at a house warming and musical program at her new home on West Dryden street. In addition to songs and vocal stunts by a number of her pupils, Mrs. Freeman sang. The house was beautiful with flowers and clever Halloween decorations, and refreshments in keeping with the spirit of the evening were served. Those present were Mrs. Roberta Young, Miss Poole, Miss Viola Savre, Miss Helen Savre, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cordery, Mr. and Mrs. Hilpatrick, Mrs. Sinclair, Mrs. Scott, Miss Frances Kulp, Miss Wilma Kulp; also Mr. and Mrs. Foutz and Mrs. England of Hollywood, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gresham and Mrs. Freeman.

Expected Burglars Disappoint Police

The expected robbery of the home of Clarence Barnes at 19 Arden avenue did not materialize last night. This home was visited by burglars about a year ago and looted valued at $1200 obtained. When Mr. Barnes became aware that someone had been tampering with one of the windows again he became suspicious that the house had been marked for another robbery. Police were notified and kept a watch of the premises all night. At 11:20 p. m. both the front and back doors were found open but nothing had been stolen.

Henry Wilkens Case Now Ready for Jury

SAN FRANCISCO, November 2.—Henry Wilkens, auto mechanic, accused of having murdered his wife through a fake hold-up will know his fate tonight. His attorney, Frank Murphy, made his final plea for acquittal today. He spoke briefly in his address to the jury which consumed all of yesterday's session. His plea for his client was declared to have been a masterpiece and Wilkens, who has been watching the jury closely, seemed more at ease today than heretofore. Murphy declared the state's case began and ended with Arthur Castor's confession and said that twenty-six state witnesses had shattered this piece of evidence beyond all repair. Assistant District Attorney Golden was to make the state's closing address. He was expected to finish by noon. Judge Ward will charge the jury and they will retire for deliberation late today.

Members of P. T. A. Adopt New Pledge

At the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Colorado street Parent-Teacher association, the members unanimously adopted the "chaperonage" pledge that is being brought before the various associations by the juvenile court committee of the federation, of which Mrs. W. H. Dotson is chairman. Speakers on the amendments for the November election at yesterday's meeting included Richardson D. White, Bert P. Woodward, Mrs. C. A. Cole, Jesse

Rotary Club Hears About Amendments

Amendments to be voted upon at the general election were discussed yesterday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Rotary club. All but three members of the organization were present. President Roy L. Kent presided. The meeting was addressed by a representative of the People's Economy league of Los Angeles, who explained the defects of the Water Power Act, which is No. 19 on the ballot. The first dozen amendments were also discussed and many of the members of the local club expressed their individual opinions. No formal action was taken by the club as a whole.

THE DRESS UP TRUNK

Whatever may be said against the coming back of long skirts, there is one thing that can be said for them: they have been used for a long time.

They certainly will make "dressing up" a lot more fun. There was a time when a little girl was a person in short skirts, and a lady was a person who wore long skirts, and one could temporarily transform oneself from the first into the second by borrowing one of mother's long garments.

Child Or Grown Up?

But in the past few years this simple distinction has been so wiped out that I have sometimes been in doubt on the street as to whether I was looking at a child of 12 or 13 with an unusually old face, or a woman of 35 or 40 with an unusually short skirt.

Poor youngsters! They may think they enjoy dressing almost like grownups all the time, but I don't think they get half so much fun out of that as the youngsters of my day got in dressing just like grown ups once in a while.

For Rainy Afternoons

Dressing up was a recognized rainy day diversion in our family. There was an old black trunk in which we kept the things that we were allowed to use for that purpose. I can shut my eyes and see that trunk today. How the children in the neighborhood who had no such trunk in their attics loved to get at it! It had in it not only some of my mother's recently outworn dresses, but some very old fashioned glendale. I remember

Is There a Black Trunk in Your Home?

A little girl who came to my house the other day wanted to give me an idea of a fashion show to which she had been taken, and with which she was fairly bubbling over. From my wardrobe I furnished a few simple articles, a scarf, a silk petticoat, a pair of high heeled slippers, a bit of lace, a rose off an old hat. The excitement with which she fell upon each article, and then fell on me and hugged me as if I had given her some costly toy, the quaint and charming effects she produced, brought the old days of the black trunk back to me.

Is There a Black Trunk in Your Home?

If there are children in that home you are denying them one of the least expensive pleasures of youth, and a pleasure that trains the dramatic and artistic senses.

Salvation Army Lass Stirs New York City Police Department; Wins 'Moral Victory'

Capt. Rhea Crawford (right)

NEW YORK. The police stirred up a hornet's nest when they arrested Captain Rhea Crawford, pretty 24-year-old Salvation Army lass, for "obstructing traffic" on a recent Sunday evening while "saving souls" on Forty-sixth street, west of Broadway.

Captain Crawford, known as the "Angel of Broadway," deputed when the police told her that she must discontinue the meetings. She said she had been holding street service in this spot for the last two years.

The officer who brought the message to her from headquarters took her into custody and was followed all the way to the station by a boisterous, belligerent crowd. Two of the men who did a large part of the boistering also became entangled in the coils of the law, but were afterward released.

The charge against Captain Crawford was afterward changed to disorderly conduct.

"Why should the police discover at this late time that I have

Practical Housekeeping by Florence Austin Chase

HIGH PROTEIN CONTENT OF CHEESE IMPORTANT

It is safe to speculate that cheese owed its origin to some accidental souring and ripening of sour milk curd for, long before refrigeration was known, cheese was the form in which milk was preserved for future use. Today the process that gives the characteristic flavor to each variety, is due to the action of different kinds of bacteria. This results in very wide variety of cheese, from the cream cheese that requires only a few hours in the home preparing to the French cheese exposed to the mold of months in damp cellars.

All good cheeses are pure, healthful foods, the high flavors being due to natural ripening processes.

Cheeses figure most attractively on the printed club or church menu. As they are generally named for the town or district from which they come, they give an interesting foreign suggestion. American cheese is the name used for that form of the English Cheddar generally liked in this country. Brie, Camembert, Coulommier, Neufchatel and Roquefort are French cheeses from different parts of France and differing in some cases very much in flavor and appearance. Edam and Gouda cheese are of Holland origin. Gruyere, the cheese of many holes, is from Switzerland, and the strong-smelling Limberg comes from Belgium and not from Germany, as is often supposed.

Parmesan is the name given to the very hard cheese of Italy, which, however, in its own country is called Ganna. Many of these foreign named cheeses, however, are now made in this country and the demand for these is growing among the native as well as the foreign-born population.

Cheese has an important mission in the dietary; served as an accompaniment it adds some food value, flavor and distinction; or in large quantities it materially increases the food value of a dish.

The highly flavored foreign cheeses make an appropriate finish to a bountiful meal; bread and cheddar cheese provide a hearty lunch for a hungry man, and grated cheese adds to the flavor and protein value of many dishes. In Italy, where meat has always been scarce and expensive cheese is added to the soup as well as to the ever present spaghetti, rice and macaroni.

The use of cheese is increasing both in families that demand a bountiful table and those of frugal taste. Cheese and dishes in which cheese is used should figure in up-to-date menus.

I, I, I: MYSELF; I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME

CHAPTER XXXIII Trouble at Our House

Today my doctor threatened to put my Daddy over her knee and spank him. Wouldn't that look funny? Doctor is a good sized woman but my Daddy is 'most twice as big and strong. I couldn't tell you how strong he is. When Doctor, who has known him ever since he was a little boy, threatened to spank him it made us all laugh.

It came about this way. Doctor had come in to look me over, as she does frequently to keep me going fine, and Daddy came in with a lot of anti-vivisection literature in his hand. He said: "Oh, it is terrible, the cruelties that are practiced on animals for medical research, and no good comes from it, from what they say. I believe I shall vote to do away with such inhuman practices." Then it was my doctor threatened to put him over her knee and spank him.

"To think that you, an educated man, Harry Eliot, would do such a thing as that without investigating both sides of the story! Would you do away with all research in surgery and on cancer, on infantile paralysis and other terrible diseases? It is inconceivable that you should dream of such a thing."

"But, Doctor," Daddy said, "this literature quotes many highly eminent physicians who claim that a large majority of the medical fraternity oppose animal experimentation." Then Doctor exploded.

"That is absolutely false. There are no eminent doctors who oppose vivisection. Many of these so-called 'eminent' doctors that this literature you have been reading quotes, were born over 100 years ago. Some of them were not doctors at all but mesmerists, archeologists, lecturers, etc., and even though they were 'eminent' physicians 100 years or so ago, what would they know about modern methods of research and anesthesia? Many of these so-called 'eminent' doctors that are lecturing now against vivisection are not eminent at all in their own profession but are elderly men who graduated years before the science of bacteriology was known, and they have not kept up with their profession."

"But Doctor, Sir Frederick Treves certainly could not be classed this way and he is quoted as being against animal experi-

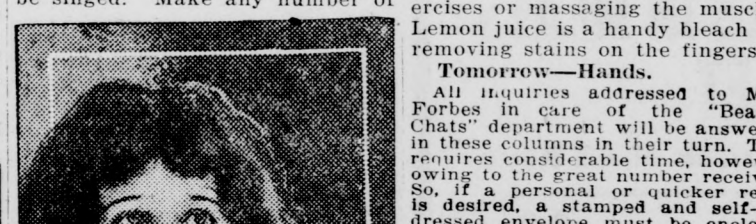

SHAMPOO PRELIMINARIES

Shampooing the head isn't, as most people think, a mere matter of bending over a basin of water with a large cake of soap in one's hand. This careless attempt at cleansing will certainly remove some of the dirt and oil from the scalp and it may, in the case of a very healthy head, leave the hair soft and glossy. But the chances are 100 to 1 that the brush and comb acquires a white film for days afterwards, that the hair is too limp or dull, or hard to do up, so the whole shampoo period is anything but a pleasant time.

And all this because a few simple shampoo preliminaries are omitted as being too troublesome. If you want your hair to thrive and prosper a shampoo must be stimulating and beautifying as well as cleansing and the treatment must begin some time before you run the hot water into the basin.

Every other time the hair is shampooed, that is, about once every six weeks, the hair should be singed. Make any number of small light braids or twists, run the hand backwards over each to pull up as many loose ends as possible and then run a lighted match or paper near the hair to singe off these ends. This can easily be done by oneself with no danger of burning the hair, though it is always pleasanter to have someone else hold the match.

mentation, and Dr. William J. Mayo is one of the foremost surgeons of our day and he is against it.

"My dear boy," Doctor said, "read this. Read what Dr. Treves and Dr. Mayo say themselves. The first is an article taken from The London Times on April 19, 1902, and Dr. Treves wrote it."

"Those who are familiar with the controversial methods of the anti-vivisection party, will not be surprised that certain of my remarks have been cunningly isolated from the context, and have been used in advertisements, pamphlets, and speeches, to condemn all vivisection experiments as useless. No one is more keenly aware than I am of the great benefits conferred on suffering humanity by certain researches carried out by means of vivisection."

And this is what Dr. Mayo says: "The trouble with the anti-vivisectionists is that they are not only dishonest, but wilfully dishonest. They picked out one sentence from a paragraph in my address, exploited it for their purpose, ignoring the fact that the impression they produced was quite contradictory to the views expressed. The truth is not in these people."

"Now," said Doctor, "not only do I want you to realize that you cannot believe these people, but I want you to realize that if it had not been for the researches through the animal experimentation of Pasteur and Lister and other noted men you might have lost Sockums' Mama and Sockums too when he was born. Puerperal or childbed fever used to kill many women after childbirth, and it is through our knowledge of antiseptics gained by animal experimentation that we have very little of that terrible disease now. And puerperal fever is only one of very many terrible diseases that we have control of through our knowledge gained in this manner."

My Daddy looked at my Mama and me very tenderly and said: "Doctor, I did not realize, Sockums, old man, we are sure glad we have little Mama with us, aren't we?" Thousands of Mamas and Babies against a few animals! Not much question how we stand, is there Sockums?

FLY HUNTER HAS TRIP TO RUSSIA

Texas Professor Wanders
Into Soviet Land Looking for Rare Species

MOSCOW — With a detached, scientific look in his eyes and glass jars full of flies in his suitcase, Professor Muller, zoologist and specialist in heredity, formerly of Columbia and now of the University of Texas, flew in to Moscow, one of the first Americans to make use of the new airplane line connecting Moscow with Berlin.

Bolsheviks and red armies and nationalization of property were nothing in his young life. He was interested in flies, through the breeding of which he studied the laws of heredity, making new discoveries which some day might be applied to human life. He was taking a vacation trip to Europe and met in Germany Russian scientists, also out on vacation. He learned that work similar to his was being done in Russia. And so he decided to go right in.

Couldn't Be Worried
Just like that! While business men and diplomats wonder whether Russia is safe to deal with, while passports and visas and stamps and customs put up a wall which keeps any but the most hardy out of Russia, this pleasantly aloof scientist just cheerfully wandered in. If any of the customs officers or special police suspected his suitcase and examined it they would have been still more startled on discovering that his baggage consisted largely of flies!

For naturally he took his precious flies with him; he was not going to let them languish and die in Berlin, carrying with them into obscurity the knowledge of the secrets of the laws of heredity. But when he went out of Russia again he divided his flies with the scientific institutes near Moscow, because he considered them quite worthy of the honor and able to carry on his experiments at least as well as he did.

Found Kindred Souls
"They are carrying on the same kind of experiments here," he said on his way to visit the Genetic Station at Annikova, "but they have been doing it with even more developed animals. I am amazed at the scientific development I find here. I never heard of this Annikova Station before I came here, and I find that it was organized four years ago, during all the war and revolution, and has forty active scientific collaborators, who have introduced many new facts into the science of heredity. It is quite splendidly equipped."

"And this is only one small department of the Institute of Experimental Biology, under Professor Kolzoff. I also saw the new Institute of Biological Chemistry, where more than a hundred experiments are working under Professor Bach. I visited an Institute of Hydro-Biology, also under Kolzoff's general department."

Rejuvenated Birds
"I saw canary birds old and dying who very shortly afterward were hopping and singing like young birds, through the transplanting of sex-organs. In the state of rejuvenation they are getting remarkable results with chickens and other small birds. And Professor Ivanoff has done important work on the artificial fertilization of animals, proving that cows, for instance, can be artificially fertilized to a much higher grade."

In fact, I am amazed by what I found here. I expected very much less on account of the wars they have had and the hard economic conditions. But, of course, they are much in need of contact with the outside world and with literature from abroad. This is a great drawback to them, and it ought to be removed. It is quite necessary for scientists to interchange ideas and even visits occasionally. The thought in America that science in Russia is dying is quite untrue."

Got in Easy
"Did you have much trouble getting in?" he was asked.
"Well, I did waste a lot of time in Berlin waiting for a visa. They didn't seem to understand my business at first, but the Russian scientists arranged it for me. After I got to Moscow I found a young man working in the Foreign Office who used to be a pupil of mine in Columbia, and after that it was easy to get introductions."

News Writer Dies From Long Illness

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Frank A. Stetson, White House correspondent for the International News Service for a number of years, died at his home in Mount Tanager last night following a long illness.

Mr. Stetson had a wide acquaintance among public men in the capital. He had served at the White House under both Wilson and Harding administrations. The illness which caused his death dated from last March when he accompanied President Harding to Florida. He contracted a heavy cold, complications set in and he was confined to his bed. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Of the total amount spent for education in this country, that for colleges, universities and professional and technical schools, whether supported by public taxation or privately endowed, will be about 15 per cent, that for normal schools 2 per cent and for elementary and secondary schools 83 per cent.

Woman Chosen for Charge of Office

Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore of New York has received word from the state department at Washington that she has been appointed deputy commissioner of the U. S. commission to the Brazilian International Centennial Exposition.

Mrs. Livermore will have charge of the Washington office of the Brazilian commission and will work in close touch with the department of state.

Glands Can't Prolong Life, Says Doctor

LONDON.—The cycle of existence cannot be modified, not even by the use of monkey glands. Dr. John Matheson, distinguished English physician, is out to disprove the monkey-gland theory and he is authority for the statement that medical science cannot abolish, or even greatly modify, the cycle of existence, growth, maturity and decay.

Modern species, such as monkey glands, radio crystals and the like, may encourage and cheer but they do not affect longevity, according to the theories of Dr. Matheson. Life without disease isn't even possible, the doctor believes. Physical decay, which of course is responsible for senility, can be arrested, Dr. Matheson believes, but not by the use of any nostrums. Drugs cannot prevent decay, he states.

Longevity, the doctor thinks, may be attained by raising the power of resistance of the bodily tissues of the attacks of germs and their poisons.

"Germs cannot be exterminated, but we may make it more difficult for them to grow and multiply," Dr. Matheson said. The greatest success in preventative medicine is found in simple means, he believes. Personal hygiene, fresh air and sunshine give the body ample fortification against germs. It is coupled with wholesome food these should lead to longevity, the doctor believes.

The statement of Dr. Matheson that sunshine is an aid to the fight against germs has led to considerable worry on the part of some English people, who are predicting that this will be the most unhealthy winter Great Britain has ever seen. This is all due to the rainy summer which has prevailed all over the British Isles. The average sunshine during the summer was less than two hours a day. People were unable to get their accustomed exercise because of heavy rains. Vacations were ruined and the population is nerve worn. It is freely predicted in medical circles that the winter will be an unhealthy one, for the people are not prepared to resist the rigors of the English climate this year. Harley street—the street of stethoscopes and pill boxes—already reports that fall has brought an abnormal number of minor diseases to London.

Monoplane Hops Off In Continent Flight

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 3.—The giant army transport monoplane T-2 hopped off from Rockwell field here at 5:59 o'clock this morning in her second attempt to span the continent in one single flight.

Lieut. Oakley Kelly and John Macready piloted the plane and declared they would undoubtedly be able to keep the big monoplane skimming eastward all of today, tonight and tomorrow. They expect to land at Mitchell field, Mineola, L. I., about 4 p. m. Saturday, eastern time.

The line of flight will carry them over Yuma, El Paso, San Antonio, Wichita, St. Louis and Johnstown, Pa.

The first attempt to make the trans-continental flight in one jump was started last October 5 and abandoned a hundred miles from the starting point when fog banks blocked their path through Temecula pass, the extreme weight of the fuel supply making it impracticable to skim the mountain crests.

On that occasion the same intrepid pilots remained aloft over San Diego thirty-five hours, eighteen minutes and thirty seconds, smashing the world's sustained flight record by nearly ten hours.

They also broke the world's lifting record for a single motor plane when they rose with their total weight of approximately five tons.

Their lifting record boosted this morning thirty-five added gallons, bringing the weight to 10,775 pounds.

IT'S IN THE AIR

Economy and efficiency are the only issues. Do not be side-tracked by political buncombe. Richardson has made good as state printer and state treasurer and he will make good as governor.

The big balance of power in the present political campaign for governor rests with Southern California. If the voters of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino, Imperial and San Diego counties vote anything like their real strength at the polls on November 7, their vote will be so overwhelmingly for Friend William Richardson for governor that it will make no difference what the wet districts of the north that are alleged to have been swung to the Woolwine banner by the sophistry of his anti-Volstead speeches, may do.

Registration reports in all of the Southern California counties not only show a substantial increase over the registration at the primaries, but there is a greater interest in the general election than was manifested at the primary, when there was an apathy, despite which Friend Richardson won by nearly 25,000 majority.

In Southern California, the leading Democrats are for Richardson, being unwilling to accept Woolwine's program. The Democratic orators are organizing meetings in every part of the southern counties against the nominee of their own party, while every faction of the Republican party is for the head of the state ticket. Never in the history of Southern California has the candidate of any party shown such remarkable strength as Richardson does now. It is well that northern Republicans should know such facts.

The country editors' campaign committee has recently made a careful study of the vote situation in all of the southern counties and its findings are so remarkable that they might be discounted by 50 per cent and yet make a wonderful showing. Taking the figures of registration at the time of the primary election, final figures in all the counties since not being available, and they make their estimates as the probable Richardson-Woolwine vote as follows:

County	Richardson	Woolwine	Registrat'n
Ventura	6,000	2,500	10,326
Santa Barbara	7,500	2,500	15,420
Los Angeles	165,000	85,000	429,801
Riverside	8,000	4,000	17,716
San Bernardino	13,500	6,500	31,125
Imperial	5,000	3,000	10,469
San Diego	20,000	10,500	51,230

Totals 225,000 115,000

The above estimates give Richardson a lead in Southern California of 110,000. Many of the Richardson workers insist that the majority in the south will be 25,000 greater than this. The districts in Northern California that are listening to the bunk about the Ku Klux Klan and the wet propaganda as issues, should realize that there is nothing that opposition to Friend Richardson by machine politicians or those who stand for the blindpiggers can do to overcome Southern California's tremendous support of the state treasurer for governor.

This part of the state is already convinced that an administration of efficiency and economy is ahead in state government. The sentiment for such a government is so nearly unanimous in many sections and the harmony that prevails so surely spells Richardson for governor, that all Northern California editors who may be living in districts that have a different idea of the situation as a result of looking at it through the eyes of a Hearst newspaper or a Sacramento Bee, should tell the glad news to their readers.

William C. Doran Is Candidate for Judge

William C. Doran, who is a candidate for judge of the superior court of this county, deserves the support and vote of every right-thinking individual who goes to the polls on November 7, his supporters say. His record in the district attorney's office, where for twelve years he was a deputy under civil service, and for five years of that time chief deputy district attorney, has received the commendation of the bench and bar far and wide, it is declared. While in that responsible position, he directed most of the important cases that Los Angeles county has had. Through all of it he was fair to every man accused of crime and no one has ever been able to say that "Bill" Doran did anything that was not proper and just, his friends say.

Mr. Doran instituted in the district attorney's office one of the most important tax saving customs that has ever been introduced into any county. He made it a rule of the office, whenever a warrant of arrest was applied for against a citizen, to call in that citizen, unless the proof of his guilt was conclusive, before issuing the warrant, in order that he might hear both sides of the case and thus avoid an injustice and irreparable injury to some innocent person, who was in danger of being prosecuted without foundation. This saved the taxpayers of this county thousands of dollars by preventing long drawnout litigation in the courts. Mr. Doran has resigned from the district attorney's office.

Water and Power Act Debate Topic Tonight

The proposed amendment, No. 19, known as the water and power act, will be debated at the local high school auditorium this Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Unusual interest is being displayed on both sides of this important proposition and it is declared that every thinking voter should avail himself of this opportunity to hear the question discussed by such able men as Judge John A. Burgan and Louis D'Elia, attorney, of Los Angeles. The former will support the affirmative and the latter the negative.

Following the debate questions may be asked of the speakers by the audience. An excellent musical number will precede the debate. The arrangements for the program have been made by the Business Men's Bible class of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Glendale's assistant city attorney, Ray Morrow, will preside. Judging from the general interest displayed, a large attendance is expected, it is stated.

county will indeed be doing their duty as citizens if they vote for a man, who has been endorsed by numerous representative citizens and who is so well qualified and capable as Mr. Doran. His long experience and desire to "temper justice with mercy" eminently qualify him for the important position to which he has been nominated. By voting for him, we predict that you will have a man as judge of whom you may well be proud," one of his supporters stated today.

Capture Youths in Wild U. S. Jungle

CAIRO, Ill.—Two small boys, about 8 and 10 years old, have been returned to civilization after living in a forest for an indefinite period like their prehistoric ancestors.

The two boys were caught in the thickly wooded hills of Pulaski county after a long chase by a sheriff's posse. The youngsters, dressed in rags and unable to speak, fought like little wildcats against being captured, scratching and biting members of the posse before their childish strength finally succumbed.

Their existence was first discovered by a woman who noticed them while walking through the forest. She notified the sheriff and he set out in search. After several days of patrolling the wooded hills they struck into the deeply wooded section and caught sight of the children.

The youngsters fled at the approach of the posse, one climbing a tree with the agility of a monkey, and each chattering to each other in monosyllables. Who they are and how long they have been living in this cave-manlike fashion has not been ascertained. The boys were unable to understand when they were spoken to and were naively interested in civilized clothing and food. They had been subsisting on wild roots and forest animals which they caught and ate raw.

Proximity of coal, iron ore, and limestone makes Alabama one of the cheapest fields in the world for manufacturing of iron.

Aged Woman Greet Her Record Family

HOMEDALE, Idaho.—Celebrating her 97th birthday anniversary here, Mrs. Elizabeth Freeburn received congratulations from her 184 children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Freeburn has ten sons and daughters, fifty-three grandchildren, 109 great-grandchildren and twelve great-great-grandchildren. The oldest of the great-great-grandchildren is twenty-six months old. Having seen the fourth generation of her family, Mrs. Freeburn is anxious to live long enough to see the fifth. And she has a good chance of having this wish materialize. For, despite her active life and the many hardships which she endured as a pioneer, she is unusually well and hardy for her years. She takes a keen interest in newspapers, especially in political news. Born in Indiana, in 1825, Mrs. Freeburn had married and migrated to Illinois by 1852, this being the first journey of a series of moves westward. In 1862 she and her husband found life too tame in the rapidly-developing state of Illinois and moved on to Hardin county, Iowa, where she was one of a band of pioneers who planted the first corn in that state. When Iowa settled up she emigrated to the state of Washington, and came to Homedale after the death of her husband, twenty years ago.

ELECTRIC POWER PRODUCTION

Public utility electric power production rose in August to 4,063,000,000 kilowatt hours, a new high record, reports the Department of Commerce. Exports of coal increased somewhat but were far below normal.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Bony Sawyer and Red Sanders followed the example of their commander. Blanco and Wilson alone made any attempt to repel the assault. The big Negro ran to Divine's side and snatched the terror-stricken man's revolver from his belt. Then turning he fired at Ward. The bullet, missing its intended victim, pierced the heart of a sailor directly behind him, and the man crumpled to the ground, rolling down the steep declivity, his fellows sought cover.

Wilson followed up the advantage with a shower of well-aimed missiles, and then hostilities ceased temporarily.

"Have they gone?" queried Divine, with trembling lips, noticing the quiet that followed the shot.

"Gone nothin'," yo big cowaht," replied Blanco. "Do you done suppose dot two men is a-gwine to stan' off five? Ef yo white-livered skunks 'ud git up an' fight we might here a' chane. I see a good min' to cut out yo cowardly heart fer you, das wot I has— a-lyin' dere on yo belly settin' dat kin' o' example to yo men!"

Divine's terror had placed him beyond the reach of contumely or reproach.

"What's the use of fighting them?" he whimpered. "We should never have left them. It's all the fault of that fool Theriere. What can we do against the savages of this awful island if we divide our forces? They will pick us off a few at a time just as they picked of Miller and Swenson. Theriere and Byrne. We ought to tell Ward about it, and call this foolish battle off."

"Now you're talkin'," cried Bony Sawyer. "I'm not a-goin' to squat up here any longer with my friends a-shootin' at me from below an' a lot of wild heathen creepin' down on me from above to cut off my bloomin' head."

"Same here!" chimed in Red Sanders.

Blanco looked toward Wilson. For his own part the Negro would not have been averse to returning to the fold could the thing be accomplished without danger of reprisal on the part of Skipper Simms and Ward; but he knew the men so well that he feared to trust them even should they seemingly acquiesce to any such proposal. On the other hand, he reasoned, it would be as much to their advantage to have the deserters return to them as it would to the deserters themselves, for when they had heard the story of the murder of the others of the party they too would realize the necessity for maintaining the strength of the little company to its fullest.

"I don't see that we're goin' to gain nothin' by fightin' 'em," said Wilson. "There ain't nothin' in it no more now for nobody since the girls' goin'. Let's chuck it, an' see wot terms we can make with Squint Eye."

"Well," mumbled the Negro. "I can't fight 'em alone. What yo doin' dere, Bony?"

During the conversation Bony Sawyer had been busy with a stick and a piece of rag, and now he turned toward his companions once more they saw that he had rigged a white flag of surrender. None interfered as he raised it above the edge of the breastwork.

Immediately there was a hail from below. It was Ward's voice. "Surrenderin', eh? Comin' to your senses, are you?" he shouted. Divine, feeling that immediate

'GREATEST MOTHER' IN APPEAL

At the Service of All Mankind

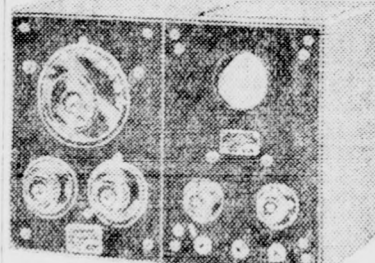

An allegorical concept of the Red Cross as a peace-time ideal is employed by the American Red Cross in a new and striking poster for its annual Red Cross roll call. Spread out before the heroic size figure is the outline of the United States with a Red Cross superimposed upon it while around its borders are sketched scenes depicting the chief activities of the Red Cross today—service to disabled veterans of the World War, disaster relief and promotion of the public health. The poster is the work of Lawrence Wilbur, a New York artist, and will be displayed throughout the country during the enrollment of the Red Cross membership for 1923, which begins Armistice day, November 11, extending to Thanksgiving, November 30.

SHORT WAVE REGENERATIVE RECEIVER.

The illustration shows a combination of tuner, detector and two stage amplifier, in exceedingly compact form. This type of equipment is far superior to the crystal detector method of reception. The vacuum tube detector is used in place of the crystal and the increase in sensitivity will make for louder signals over a greatly increased distance.

Two steps of amplification are provided to further increase the strength of signals and permit the use of loud speaking horns or phonographic attachment. It has a consistent range of several hundred miles and is particularly desirable for the reception of broadcasting concerts.

RADIO EXPLAINED

BY LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

THE A. C. TRANSFORMER

Remembering the principles of induced currents discussed in previous articles, it is evident when an alternating current is flowing in a circuit the alternating magnetic field will cut in and out through any neighboring circuit, and induce an alternating electromotive force in the latter.

This induced electromotive force will depend upon the mutual inductance of the two circuits, the current in the inducing circuit, and the frequency of this current. In low frequency work the mutual inductance is made as large as possible by winding the two circuits on an iron form, so that almost all of the magnetic flux produced by the current passes through the second circuit. This arrangement is called a "transformer." The induced voltage is to the applied voltage in the ratio of the number of turns on the two coils, the larger voltage being found in the number of turns around the iron. Thus, if one coil has 1,000 turns and the other 100, and an emf. of 200 volts is applied to the latter, an emf. of 2,000 volts is induced in the former. When current is drawn from the second circuit, it is found that the currents in the two circuits are nearly in the ratio of the number of turns, the greater current being found in the lower voltage circuit.

It's a Fact

PRODUCTION OF PETROLEUM

A report of the department of commerce says that production of petroleum fell slightly in August from the July record. Consumption increased slightly and imports declined, but stocks continued to mount and again reached a new high record at 264,780,000 barrels. The price of crude oil declined about one-third, reaching the lowest point since September, 1921, and exports of gasoline declined in August.

Gasoline figures for July, the latest available, showed an enormous increase in production, reaching a new high record at 569,711,000 gallons, an increase of almost 45,000,000 gallons over the previous high record made in July. Consumption increased almost to the level of production and stocks declined. Both production and stocks of kerosene, gas and fuel oil and lubricating oil increased, except stocks of lubricating oil, which declined very slightly.

LESS WHEAT THIS YEAR

Total world wheat production, excluding Russia and Mexico, is now estimated at 3,012,293,000 bushels by the United States department of agriculture, based on official and unofficial estimates from reporting countries. The revised estimate for the same countries last year was 3,049,074,000 bushels. The previous estimate for this year was 3,093,876,000 bushels.

Adding to the world production figures the stocks on hand in so far as they have been obtained, a total available supply of 3,192,037,000 bushels for use the coming year is indicated, compared with 3,273,588,000 bushels during the past year.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S BATH TUB

"I think," said Uncle Wiggily to himself one afternoon, when he was all alone in his hollow stump bungalow, "I think I shall shave, take a bath and then go out and look for an adventure. By that time Nurse Jane will be home to get supper, and I shall have a fine appetite. Taking a bath always makes me hungry."

Uncle Wiggily went up to the bath room, where he had just had Grandma Whackum, the hoover, sentleman plumber, fit in a new bath tub, with hot and cold running water and everything.

The bunny gentleman mixed up some soapy lather to rub in his whiskers, so they would shave off more easily, and as he lathered his face he whistled a jolly little tune.

But when Uncle Wiggily began to shave himself with the razor, he stopped whistling.

"For," said the bunny to himself, "if I pucker up my lips to whistle I may cut off the tip of my pink, twinkling nose, and I don't want to do that."

So he kept quiet when he was using the razor.

But when the bunny gentleman had filled the tub with warm, soapy water, and was splashing away in it, he began to sing. It is a good sign, you know, to sing in your bath. It shows that you are happy and healthy and there is nothing better in this world.

This is what Uncle Wiggily sang:

"I love to sozzle in the suds,
And lather up the soap,
It floats around my bath tub
As if it were a boat.

I sometimes drop soap on the floor,
Then back and forth it goes.
If I should step on it I would Fall tumbling on my nose."

And Uncle Wiggily didn't want to do that, because if he fell on his pink nose it might never twinkle again, and that would be a dreadful thing to have happen, wouldn't it?

But everything turned out all right, and soon Uncle Wiggily, sweet and clean, was putting on fresh clothes to go seek an adventure.

"I wonder what will happen to me today?" thought the bunny as he let the water gurgles out of the bath tub. "I hope I have a most jolly adventure, and I hope—"

Uncle Wiggily suddenly stopped talking to himself and listened. He heard a noise downstairs in his hollow stump bungalow.

"Is that you, Nurse Jane—back so soon?" asked the bunny. "I thought you were to be gone all day. I haven't gone out yet."

"Well, you don't need to go out—that is until after I have nibbled your ears," growled a harsh voice, and Uncle Wiggily was so frightened that he dropped one shoe he was about to put on.

"It's the Bear!" whispered the bunny. "The Bushy Bear!"

"Tramps! Shuff! Bang!" sounded footsteps on the stairs. "Oh, there you are," cried the Bear as he saw Uncle Wiggily in the bath room. "What have you been doing?" asked the Bear.

"And what is that shiny white thing in the middle of the room?" "That," answered the bunny, "is my bath tub, a new one I just had put in. Don't you ever take a bath, Mr. Bear?" inquired the bunny. For he had a wild hope in his heart that he might play some trick on the bear by means of the bath tub.

"Oh, yes. I take a bath," growled the Bear. "But I stand under a waterfall, or I jump in some river or lake for my bath."

"Doesn't it make you hungry to take a bath?" went on Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, it does," growled the Bear. "I am hungry for your ears, but I think I would be more hungry if I took a bath in your new tub. Here, show me how you take a bath in a tub."

"Oh, this is just what I wanted to happen!" thought the bunny. "I'll fix this Bear so he won't nibble my ears today!"

"How do you take a bath?" growled the shaggy creature.

"Well," answered Uncle Wiggily, "you take off your clothes, get in the tub and sozzle yourself with soap and warm water. Here, this is where you turn on the water," and the bunny showed the Bear the shiny faucets, one marked hot and the other cold. "I think I've used up all the hot water," said Uncle Wiggily, "so I'll go downstairs and light the gas heater. Then

"Oh, woosie, wiffy-wuff!" howled the Bear.

That was cold, and a moment later such a howling came from that bathroom!

"Oh, woosie woosie, wiffy-wuff," howled the bear as the hot water splashed on him. "I'm on fire! I'm all scalded! And out of the window he jumped to find a cold spring of water into which to jump. So he didn't nibble any ears that day."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as he turned off the hot water. "Bath tubs are very useful things to have in a bungalow."

And if the Jumping Jack doesn't put a pineapple in the rag doll's bed, to scratch her all up and make her look as though she had the measles, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the thorn bush.

Clara Phillips on Witness Stand Again

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—From the witness stand Clara Phillips again today fought her own battle for life in the same tigerish manner in which she is alleged to have ended the life of pretty Alberta Meadows with a hammer last July.

Time and again the searching cross-examination questions of Deputy District Attorney Charles Fricke elicited only a trivial response or brought forth a denial unconnected with the questioning. She held without wavering to her story that every move she made in connection with the death of Mrs. Meadows was made at the suggestion of Mrs. Peggy Caffee, her chorus girl friend and confidante, who was the state's star witness against her.

The defendant reiterated on cross-examination that so far as she remembered, she only engaged in a hand-to-hand encounter with Mrs. Meadows. She declared that when she found herself being bested in this combat she called for aid from Mrs. Caffee, who, she declared, leaped from the automobile in which they had driven to the murder scene and struck Mrs. Meadows over the head with the hammer.

From that moment until she was awakened in a hotel by her husband she declared she remembered nothing.

Two Train Robbers Killed In Battle

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—Two members of a bandit gang which held up the Memphis Elmer on the Frisco at Wittenburg, Mo., were shot and killed early this morning, according to a telegraphic report received here. Six men were said to be in the gang which made away with several sacks of mail.

The train crew opened fire on the bandits while the holdup was in progress and the robbers left two dead companions when they escaped.

Ohio Auto Novices Are Given Warning

CINCINNATI, O. — An old proverb has been revised by Police Judge Meredith Yeatman to read: "Novices rush in where experts fear to drive," and in order to curb the inclination he has ruled that a beginner at automobile piloting is guilty of reckless driving when he takes his automobile into the congested districts. "Let those who are learning practice out in the open hereafter," he said, and added that those who got in trouble downtown could expect no mercy from him.

Realty Company Is Quick on This Sale

A. E. Ditch of 618 North Louise street is praising the Glendale Realty company of 133 South Brand boulevard for quickness and satisfaction in handling of realty deals.

It was Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock that Mr. Ditch listed his property exclusively with the Glendale Realty people. His property consisted of 100 foot frontage on North Louise street running through 320 feet to Kenwood street, with two houses, 618 and 622 North Louise street.

R. N. Greenlaw of the realty company handled the property and by 11 o'clock Thursday morning it was sold to Mr. and Mrs. J. Maxey Pace.

This makes the second sale involving a consideration of more than $20,000 made by Mr. Greenlaw in the past ten days and brings the company's total for the past thirty days up to $140,175.

Ottoman Empire at End, Says Assembly

ANGORA, Turkey, Nov. 3.—(Via London, by radio to the International News Service)—A law suppressing the Sultanate, which is tantamount to deposing Sultan Mohammed VI, was adopted by the Turkish nationalist assembly today.

The assembly declared that the "Ottoman empire is at an end." All authority is vested in the Caliph, the head of the Mohammedan church.

The Turkish law providing for the succession to the Constantinople throne is abolished.

Prince of Wales Is Thrown From Horse

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Three of England's most prominent citizens were under care of physicians today. The Prince of Wales suffered contusions of the ankle when he was thrown from a hunting horse and was obliged to cancel all his engagements today. His fact was badly swollen and he was ordered to take a complete rest.

Names With Glamor Are Sought by 'Bill'

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo.—When "Bill" Steen, of Marshall, was very young the baptismal handcap his parents hung on him began to pall. There is no romance to a name like Bill; no suavity or subtlety, no glamor, clan, eclat or class.

So, after marriage, when Bill's progeny began arriving singly and by platoons, Bill cast about for monikers of individuality and distinction. Bill succeeded. There are nine of the little Steens, all boys, and Bill gave them a start in life that he had never had. Bill's boys, reading from left to right or otherwise, are: Desco, Tascio, Lusco, Cicero, Marvilo, Rosco, Otto, Woodrow and Vanzo.

Most persons believe in signs and omens and Arthur Barnes in the "Ladder Jinx" at the Glendale Theatre found that for one day the jinx raised havoc with him and it all came about because he walked under a ladder. Another film, "Buffalo Bill," is also being shown at the Glendale.

The T. D. & L.

The feature film, "Spanish Jade," and Lopas Oriental Jazz orchestra and a Lloyd Ham Hamilton comedy, "The Speeder," are all included on the present T. D. & L. bill.

Starring in "Spanish Jade" are David Powell and Ann Forrest, while the jazz orchestra is made up of seven Orientals.

Manager Ralph Allan says: "This entire bill makes up one of the snappiest seen here in some time and offers a diversity of program sufficient to satisfy any and all. It's some show."

Ex-Kaiser to Hear Dead Wife Praised

DOORN, Nov. 3.—Just before Wilhelm Hohenzollern, former German emperor, slips the golden wedding ring upon the finger of his bride-to-be, Princess Hermine of Reuss, on Sunday, he will hear from the lips from the old German court chaplain, Dr. Heinrich Vogel, some very pointed remarks regarding the late ex-Kaiserin, who died in April, 1921.

These remarks may be anything but pleasant for the new bride to listen to. The correspondent is able to give the text of the marriage ceremony which was prepared in advance by Rev. Dr. Vogel.

Almost one-third of the clergyman's wedding talk will be devoted to the memory of Augusta Victoria—former empress.

The sermon, it is understood, is divided into two parts, based on the First Corinthians, Thirtieth Chapter, Thirtieth Verse. The divisions deal, first, with faith, secondly with hope, and, thirdly, with love.

The passage dealing with love is almost wholly devoted to remarks about the dead empress, whose simplicity and homely virtues were loved by all.

Figures Show Films Popular In Southland

Eleven million persons attended motion picture shows and other entertainments in the Los Angeles district during September according to Collector Rex B. Goodcell.

Receipts for admission taxes for the month were $226,431.69 indicating an attendance in excess of $11,000,000.

Collector Goodcell in referring to admission tax collections for June, July, August and September pointed out that each month has showed a steady gain in tax receipts, which means an increase in theater attendance.

For June the receipts were $197,380, July $211,236, August $212,481 and September $226,431, indicating a theater attendance for the four months of approximately 40,000,000. At this rate the attendance for the full year 1922 will reach 120,000,000—a record-breaker.

According to the last census the population of the Los Angeles district was 1,423,699 and using this figure as a basis, the theater attendance of 11,000,000 for September indicates that every man, woman and child in the district visited theaters seven times during the month.

May Delay Arrest In Murder Mystery

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 3.—Somerset and Middlesex county authorities today professed ignorance of a report that warrants had been drawn but not signed, accusing a man and woman of participation in the murder of Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the protestant church, and his choir singer, Mrs. James Mills.

It is understood that Deputy Attorney General Wilbur A. Mott, who is in full charge of the investigation, may not make arrests until after the grand jury gets the testimony. There is every reason to believe that the grand jury will not take up the Hall-Mills mystery until after the election next Tuesday.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before breakfast occasionally.

Too much meat may form uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region; you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in correcting kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

How Do You Judge SHIRTS

Most men "see something they like," their technical knowledge of materials and making is limited.

Next time you look at shirts, ask the man—

- (1) Are they fast color?
- (2) Are neck bands pre-shrunk?
- (3) Are they cut full?
- (4) Are they firmly stitched?

If you're looking at the new stripe and check patterns we're now showing, the answer will be: "Yes, sir." They are.

BAGSHAW WAITING FOR NOVEMBER 11

Says Wet Or Dry Field Will Do When Washington Tackles California

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 3.—The 72 to 3 score that Andy Smith's Bears piled up on the Washington eleven last year still irritates Enoch Bagshaw and he regards his southern contemporary with the undying passion that an orchid has for ice. However, it seems that the contest in the stadium November 11, between California and Washington football teams will be played with coaches confined to the side lines.

Compared with the husky mentor, a clam is as talkative as a first term congressman. Baggy very ungraciously declines to do the Delphi act as far as the California clash is concerned.

"Just tell 'em," he says, "that I don't believe any of this bunk Andy Smith and the newspapers are throwing around. In my opinion there isn't an atom of truth in the report that Brick Mueller is too 'brittle' to play football. And the rest of the Bears are as good or better than last year."

Either Wet or Dry
"Do you prefer a wet field or a dry one," the Washington mentor was asked.

"Wet or dry, it doesn't matter," he answered.

This can be construed either of two ways. First, Baggy doesn't think he has a chance of beating the Bruins on any kind of a field, or, second, he has a flock of players that will win for him, wet or dry.

But while Bagshaw very positively refuses to make any predictions whatsoever on the probable outcome of the game, the coach's general attitude makes it pretty evident that he is not hopeful of tanning the Bears on armistice day.

Muldoon's Reign to End Soon, Is Belief

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Regardless of which way the political cat may jump at the New York election on Tuesday, William Muldoon is to be beheaded as chairman of the state athletic commission of which he has been a dictator for these several years.

If Al Smith is elected governor Muldoon's departure will be almost automatic. So will be the case with the remainder of the commission, it is quite generally understood in sporting circles.

But even if Nathan L. Miller is returned to the gubernatorial chair at Albany, it is freely predicted that Muldoon's reign will end on the first of the new year. It is said that the governor desires a younger man at the head of the commission.

Muldoon has made surprising decisions and stood by them, regardless of criticism of his decisions which have been many and varied.

Penn State Battles Navy's Squad Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—A warm spinnish day will be provided by the weather man today for the national capital's greatest football classic of the season—the Navy and Penn State scrimmage at American league park this afternoon.

Thirty-five thousand people, a tremendous crowd for a capital sporting event, are expected to turn out for the battle. Virtually all official and social Washington, with the exception of President Harding, will be in the stands this afternoon. A close, hard fought game is in prospect.

The Penn players arrived in force today, hundreds of students coming into the capital on trains and in motors.

Modern 'Dips' Keep London Police Busy

LONDON.—A modern school of "Artful Dodgers" has grown up in London. Scotland Yard is worried and wondering whether there is some new "Rag."

Pickpockets are flourishing in London, and the police admit that the modern "dips" are the most resourceful that they have ever encountered. They are working with great success in the huge elevators that bring passengers up from the subway stations. Crowded bus stops are a harvest field for the pickpockets, and even the busses are worked successfully.

The baby is even being used as a decoy. A woman enters a bus and is followed by a pickpocket carrying a child. If the bus is crowded the pickpocket asks the woman to hold the baby, and while changing the child from his arms to those of his victim he generally manages to open a purse or lift a brooch.

Aeroplane flying over London have proven a harvest for the "dips." They point to aeroplanes and make loud exclamations and, when they have a crowd interested, ply their trade.

Wallet snatchers have been most successful during the summer season, when tourists have crowded the narrow London streets.

Recent photo of Charley O'Hearn, who has been missing from his place as the pilot of the Yale eleven, is now ready to resume his job of handing out signals. Yale's running attack, built along old fashioned lines, is expected to expand as the season progresses, and it is believed that O'Hearn will be the pivot on which the defense against Harvard and Princeton will revolve.

'TIE HACKS' NOW GOING TO CAMPS SIR SIDNEY LOW WARNS OF LEAGUE

Wyoming Industry Said to Be Hard Life; Husky Swedes Are Workers Can Never Be the Policemen of the World; Won't Let 'Experts' Help

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo.—Scores of muscular, bronze-faced "tie hacks" are today heading for the great tie camps along the Du Noir creeks, west of here and just south of Yellowstone Park, prepared for a winter of isolation and more or less hardship in the falling of trees for the millions of railroad ties that next Spring they will "drive" down the rapid creek waters into the Big Wind River to the terminus in Riverton, Wyo.

The annual "tie drive" is a picturesque event, and the cutting and taking to market of railroad ties has become an industry of tremendous proportions in Wyoming.

From October to early June the hundreds of "tie hacks," mostly of Scandinavian descent, work in the below-zero weather of the mountain country, felling the lodgepole pines and trimming them into railroad ties.

Wade in Chilled Water.
Then, when the melting mountain snows have swelled the streams to almost freshet pitch, the "tie hacks" work, often waistdeep in cold water, for many weeks "driving" the ties downstream.

The timber is cut far back in the mountains, east of the Continental Divide, and is fashioned into railroad ties during the late Winter and early Spring. The making of ties is not only laborious work, but calls for a very high degree of skill with the ax. The "tie hack" first fells the tree, making a low stump to avoid waste, and trims off the limbs with a double-bitted ax, scattering the limbs over the ground so that they will rot quickly. The log is then flattened on each side with a broad ax and later is sawed into lengths of eight feet. Then the bark is peeled off, and the ties are piled along roads through the woods leading down to the waters of the creeks.

The men, in woolen shirts, corduroy trousers and heavily-spiked boots, work all through the zero weather of the mountain winter, much of the time in deep snow making it necessary frequently to shovel their way to the trees before felling them.

The process of hauling them to the banks of the creeks is highly interesting, some of the "hacks" actually hauling ties on their improvised sleds, galloping wildly down steep embankments ahead of their loads and in imminent danger of being overtaken and crushed by the heavily loaded, speeding sleds.

"Drives" in Spring.
The low waters of the creeks during the winter season allow the ties to be piled across the streams from bank to bank, and with the melting of the snows in the spring everything is in readiness for the "drive" downstream. As soon as the water is deep enough the "breaking" crews start with the pile of ties farthest downstream; the center piles go out with a rush due to the backed-up water behind them, and the crews continue to work upstream until all the ties have been started on the crests of the creeks for their 100-mile journey to Riverton.

Jams occur constantly in the course of the long "drive," but the use of the vapor of sulphuric ether for an anesthetic was first practically adopted by Dr. Morton of Boston in 1846.

DOUBLE BILL OF FOOTBALL FODDER

Bovard Field Will Be Scene of Two Clashes; First to Start at 1:30 o'Clock

Although the U. S. C. varsity-Occidental contest is to be the main event on tomorrow's football arena at Bovard Field it is doubtful if it will command the amount of interest and enthusiasm that will be connected with the preliminary game between the Trojan freshmen and the first year men from Stanford university.

The opener will start at 1:30 o'clock and is a safe bet the usual amount of stragglers who wait for the "big" game will be on hand when the whistle blows for the kickoff of the peagreeners.

Bill Hess, husky coach of the Cardinal and hold yearlings, has whipped together a squad of ex-high school star and considered one of the best ends who has ever played in the city prep school league. Dorsey is about the size of "Brick" Muller, is a bear both on the offensive and defensive, and is a sweet drop kicker and punter. It was Dorsey's drop kick last Saturday in Berkeley that resulted in the only U. S. C. score of the game against California. He is certainly due for a regular berth on Henderson's varsity next year.

In Loustail, quarterback, the Trojan Babes have probably the best signal caller in Freshman ranks on the Pacific coast. He was the individual star in last year's great Bakersfield High school aggregation, where he was an able successor to "Spud" Spalding, present California halfback of the 1920 team. Loustail, besides being a brainy field general, is a phenomenal ground gainer, hitting the line harder than any man on the team.

They Will Shine, Too
Other stars on Coach Hess' team who are expected to show more than the average tomorrow afternoon are La Fevre, former Long Beach, "Ace," "Grandpa" Hicks, Mason and others.

While the U. S. C. Freshmen can boast of such a remarkable set of football performers the same is true of Coach Hunt's Stanford peagreeners, it is without a doubt the most formidable array of first-year talent which has ever enrolled in the Cardinal institution, and the contingent of Palo Altoans which is coming down for tomorrow's game is more than confident that their squad will come out on top.

Today, the team has not lost a single contest.

Topping the list of the invading heroes is none other than Fred "Sollic" Solomon, last year's "college" team of the Los Angeles Polytechnic High school and former "All-City" backfield man. The big blonde star is better than ever this year, his principal improvement being in his ability to heave forward passes. Playing halfback he is the main cog in the Cardinal machine, practically all of the players centering around him.

Other players who are expected to scintillate against U. S. C. are "Bul" Nevers, 191-pound full; Harold Mitchell, quarterback, last year's captain of Berkeley high squad; Buck Faust, Allan Sholes, Bill Cook and, in fact, the entire team.

Glendale Team and Azusa Meet Today
Determined to break into the "games won" column of the Central league football standings, Coach Normal C. Hayhurst and Glendale Union High school team left this afternoon for Azusa, where they will meet the Citrus Union High school eleven in a scheduled league game. In the two games played to date the Red and Black squad has tied one with Covina and lost the other to South Pasadena on flukes. The boys are out to even up the score against the "Lemons."

Cougars and Bears to Clash Saturday
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Football interest in the bay district centered today largely in the meeting at Berkeley between Andy Smith's Golden Bears tomorrow with Gus Welch's Cougars.

This conference clash will give the fans a line on what to expect when the University of Washington and California met in Seattle, a week later—November 11, Armistice day.

The Cougar squad, numbering twenty-four, will arrive tonight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Much in the way of generalization has been written of the Haughton system in Harvard football, but little that is definite has ever been given specific mention. Vaguely, a critic will allude to the all-wise and comprehensive nature of the "system," but he studiously avoids telling you just what it is, or purports to be.

The system, so-called, is no more involved than any other. On the contrary, it is more simplified. It might be characterized, in the abstract, as an intelligent study of men and conditions and the application of the knowledge thus gained in the most simple and direct manner.

No hit or miss methods, no guess work, no false motions or wasted energy. To use a much overworked term, efficiency is the keynote, and efficiency is defined as economic productivity, literary butchers to the contrary.

At the moment Yale enjoys the distinction of having a young man on its varsity football team by the name of Charley O'Hearn, who can kick, run and pass; in short, one of those rare individuals known as a "triple threat." He is being used at quarterback, where he is sometimes criticized for lack of judgment.

The World Over

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—As water seeks and finds its own level, so also has the annual East versus West game which has been held at Pasadena, until last year, under the direction of the Committee for the Tournament of Roses. From what purported to be the meeting of the best of the Eastern and Western teams for a so-called final championship of the country, it now is admitted to be merely a game between the two best teams that are available, something which has merely been the case in the past, but not admitted. The futility of getting the two best teams together finally has been admitted.

In inviting the Pennsylvania State university team to play on the coast in a post-season game, Dr. U. G. Duback, president of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate conference, which took over the management of the game from the Tournament of Roses committee, makes the following explanation: "Penn State was invited to play a representative Pacific Coast conference eleven. Nothing was said about meeting the champion team. As a matter of fact, the East has been rather shy at the idea of making this Pasadena game a so-called championship engagement, so the conference felt that the least emphasis placed on it as a championship game the better. What it will be a game between a representative Eastern eleven and a representative Pacific Coast team, neither of which may or may not be the champion of its section. The game will be played under the auspices of the Pacific Coast Conference."

As a matter of fact the team which comes out from the East in the past has not been recognized as the best team, but always has been the best team "available." On the other hand, since the game was played on the Pacific Coast it always was possible to have the best of the Coast teams in the game. And so, while the event was labeled a championship affair, the Eastern end of the scheme generally got the worst of it.

The writer has contended for years that to call the game a championship was a misnomer. And Dr. Duback's statement is a natural corroboration of a fact that has existed for a long time. Whether or not Penn State will have a representative team this year still is in doubt. There must be a doubt until the final games of the season have been played. And so it is that even a representative Eastern team may not have been selected in the choice of Penn State, whereas if the California or any other team as the outstanding gridiron machine, it will be easy to put them into the contest. Hence, even under these conditions the East is the sufferer. The question of the East versus West game has not yet been properly solved.

games, one wonders why they do not explore new worlds and broaden their money making field. For instance, it is said that not a half dozen games of baseball ever have been played in Spain, and most of those by parties of American sailors on shore leave from their warships. There is no reason why Spain would not be a fertile field in which to sow the seed of the American National game. They are getting to like it in England, and the American soldiers implanted a knowledge of the sport in France. Why then, do the junketing teams always pick on the Orient?

Manager Jawn McGraw is likely to be in line for a flood of letters from every chamber of commerce in California setting forth the merits of its own particular town as a fine place—the finest in the world—in which to establish the 1923 preliminary training camp. The hint made by McGraw that he might do his training in California has started the ball rolling, and he will not lack for invitations and inducements from now on.

Minnesota Team to Contest Wisconsin

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Minnesota and Wisconsin, two of the five unbeaten elevens of the western conference, play the feature football attraction of the conference Saturday at Minneapolis. Of secondary importance from the standpoint of the championship, but of near primary interest because of the rivalry between the two schools, is the Northwestern-Illinois tilt at Urbana.

While baseball teams have been going to the Orient year after year to play exhibition

Anna Pavlowa Huge Success In Tokio

TOKIO—Mme. Anna Pavlowa, the Russian dancer, has conquered another world capital and has added the people of another nation to her list of admirers. Her tour of Japan, beginning a trip through the entire Orient, has been marked by great success. Everywhere curtain calls lasted as long in time as did her own dances.

The Japanese had heard of Russian dancing, but Mme. Pavlowa is the first to show them what the art really is. Just how much of it the average Japanese in the audience understood is something of a question; there is no similarity at all between it and the Japanese dance.

"The Old Oaken Bucket" was written by Samuel Woodworth in 1817.

College Heads Attack Betting Upon Games

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Denouncing betting by students on football games as a vicious attack on intercollegiate athletics, Michigan university authorities have started a crusade to stamp out the practice. In statements issued to the press both President Marion Burton and Fielding H. Yost, director of intercollegiate athletics, severely criticized the evil.

"There is no occasion for discussing the morals of betting. It is an attempt to get something for nothing and in the long run the world is not made up of that way," said President Burton. "There is occasion for pointing out from an intensely practical point of view that betting is short sighted and a vicious attack on intercollegiate athletics."

"The student who bets on his team, thinking that thereby he is giving genuine loyalty to his university, is deceiving himself. Betting breeds unjust criticism of the team, tends to shatter student morals and substitutes commercialism for sportsmanship. Let us play the game for the game's sake."

"Students have no right to be dad's hard earned money and then have to explain things to dad," said "Harry Up" Yost. "Usually they are not betting their own money and if they are they can't afford to lose it," said Yost. "As a result if they lose they find themselves having to explain to dad or having to go with out things they should have. Before they know it they are finding fault with the team, the coaches and everything from the waterboy to the president. And all of this because they lost a few dollars which they had no business betting."

NEW FEATURES AT BAZAAR PLANNED

Number of Additional Booths Will Make Tuesday Club Show More Popular

The members of the ways and means committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club and those who will have charge of the various booths at the club bazaar and society circus to be given at the Elks club on November 18, met yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, 415 South Central avenue, to complete plans and also arrange for additional features for this big event, which will be given for the benefit of the club building fund.

New features planned include a shoe shining stand, to be in charge of Mrs. Charles A. Parker. The shining will be done by members of the club, and something unique in service and costume is promised. Mrs. Max Green, who will have charge of the bowling alleys, is planning several bowling parties for both men and women.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward will be general cashier for the entire event. The dolls, which will be disposed of at a booth in charge of Mrs. W. A. Tanner, will be on display after November 10 in the windows of H. S. Webb company's store, the dolls having been donated by Mr. Webb and dressed by the high school girls. Mrs. Montgomery states that all of the merchants are responding splendidly with donations for the various events. Harry McPherson will be the auctioneer for the bazaar. Arthur Dibern, exalted ruler of the Elks, and John Roman, house manager, are co-operating in every way possible to make the affair a big success, according to Mrs. Montgomery.

Delving Into Future Dr. Jessie Russell will have charge of the fortune telling booth, where several varieties of professionals will delve into the future. All of the committee members in charge of the different concessions will be costumed to represent the different booths. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett will have charge of the booth where booklets telling the history of the club from the first meeting may be purchased. There will also be a parcel post booth, fancy work booth, creative booth, apron booth, card tables, candy and ice cream booth, soft drinks and cigars. Ye Old Bookie Shoppe, handkerchief booth, "Goose" booth, fishpond, "hot dog" stand, balloon booth and other attractions, as recently announced in The Evening News.

Beginning at 10:30 o'clock in the morning with a big street parade, with Mrs. Montgomery as generalissimo, activities will continue until midnight. There will be luncheon and dinner served under the direction of Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, club custodian, and her committee in the banquet room and special cabaret features are planned to entertain the diners. Albert Perry will assist the committee.

The members of the Shakespeare section will have charge of the dancing, music to be furnished by the Henning-Bode orchestra. The members of the executive board of the club will act as a reception committee during the entire day.

Especially attractive to the little folks will be the clowns who will be present to entertain them, the identity of whom is being kept a dark secret.

Motorcycle Burglar Piques Ohio Police

CINCINNATI, Ohio—To match the enterprise of the police department there has appeared in Cincinnati the motorcycle burglar. In one night recently a robber as routed from three houses in various parts of the city only to elude pursuit by jumping astride his waiting motorcycle and dashing off into the night before the police could be summoned. So far the police have been unable to break up his thriving business.

Children's Week to Be Observed Here

Mrs. J. C. Dunford, librarian, and Miss Kate Frost, who is in charge of the juvenile department at the library on Harvard street, together with the members of the library staff are making detailed plans for the local observance of Children's week, November 12 to 18, which is being instituted by the American Library association. Arrangements are being made with H. P. Benner, scout executive to turn one evening over to the local Boy Scouts.

An invitation is being extended to the various classes throughout the city schools to visit the library during the week to familiarize themselves with the arrangement of the library and the fundamentals of reference work. A list of the better books for children will be printed according to grade and distributed at the library during children's week. There will be displays of new books and personal attention will be given to the selection of books by the children. It is planned to set aside one evening for the school children, when a special program will be given.

The members of the library staff will act as a hospitality committee during the entire week and will gladly give any information regarding the selection of Christmas books. During this week the foundation will be laid for the organization of a young folks' Reading Club.

Instead of the usual fairy stories at the story hour each Saturday from 3 to 3:30 o'clock Miss Frost has begun the reading of a book in installments.
